New Teacher Joins LCHS Staff by: Thomas Brown

This year, LCHS has several new teachers. In an effort to get to know the history teacher better, I asked her to fill out a questionnaire, and she graciously completed it. Mrs. Abby Traeholt grew up right near here in Wolf Point, Montana. When 13 years old, her family moved to Oregon based on the fact that her parents didn't want their daughters going to school on the reservation anymore. After finishing her schooling, she worked 2 years in high school Special Ed while earning her Masters degree. She then taught 3 years of first grade at Hosanna Christian in Klamath Falls, Oregon.

Wanting to be closer to family, Mrs. Traeholt moved back to Wolf Point, Montana, where she has been teaching the first grade at Southside for 2 years. When a vacancy showed up in the teaching position of history at LCHS, she took it, and now teaches the history classes as well as current events and physical education. When asked what she enjoys most about Lustre, she answered that she likes the morals and values that are held at a community level, and of course, being close to family.

Well, that's the basics on the new teacher; Mrs. Traeholt. So get to know her as she settles into her position here at LCHS.

The LCHS Opening Program was held on August 27 in the High School Gymnasium. When the clock struck 7, we settled down and Mr. Butler began with the opening song "Be Thou My Vision." Then Mr. Young continued the program with a devotional that explained that there will be good times and also disappointments in life and how we should cope with them. He also said that we should not put too much store in earthly things for they will fade away and will no longer be of value. He concluded the devotional by saying that we should store up for us rewards in Heaven.

Then the staff was introduced. This year we have quite a few new faces. First off, there is Mr. Bergen who is the new science teacher who has taught here before. Then there is Mrs. Traeholt, who is the new history teacher and current events/economics teacher. Alongside the new staff is Mrs.

Froiland who works at the office keeping things straight. Mrs. Froiland also works as the advanced computer teacher, Librarian, and the foreign language teacher.

Next, Mrs. Traeholt and Mrs. Froiland gave their testimonies which is required at every opening program with new staff. Both testimonials gave a background of their life and how God called them and what events that happened to

The Total "Great American Eclipse" By: Brayden Shimmin

On Monday August twenty first, at 11:44 a.m., many Americans were looking to the sky in anticipation of a spectacle not seen from anywhere in the lower forty eight states since 1979. Though not to the same totality as in other regions of the country, the effects of "The Great American Eclipse", such as greatly diminished sunlight and cooler temperatures, were still felt and seen by many people in the Lustre area. Numerous people wearing welding helmets and specially made glasses ordered just for the occasion, gazed upwards to observe the Earth's moon blocking up to 82.7% of its sun. The experience though curious and unique, could hardly be said to have lived up to the expectations of many who observed it from the north eastern part of the country.

2017-18 School Year Kicks Off With R&R Day By: Kaitlyn Toavs

The morning of Tues., Aug. 29th, the students and staff of LCHS loaded up the bus with sports equipment and enough food to feed a small army for a day of fun in the sun at Kiwanis Park in Fort Peck. Upon arrival at the camp site, the students had a period of free time to play some basketball, traipse around the Interpretive Center, or just visit with one another while the grill masters, Mr. Leland and Mr. Butler, prepared the feast.

Before the noon meal though, everyone gathered to hear a short message from the day's speaker: a pastor of a church in Circle by the name of Bruce Inion. Pastor Inion started us off with a game. He set up cups on each end of a long table and asked for some volunteers. The goal was to bounce a ping pong ball along the table in order to land the ball in a cup. After several long minutes of unsuccessful competition, Kylie Kirkaldie made the winning shot that put her team through to victory.

When the uproarious crowd finally settled down, Pastor Bruce posed this question, "If you had only one chance to make that winning shot, what would you do differently?" He went on to tell the parable of the talents found in Matthew 25:14-30 which shows three men who are each entrusted with a sum of money from their master. Two of the men go out and deal wisely with the money and come away with double the amount they started with. However, the third man took his money and buried it in the ground. Mr. Inion used this parable to illustrate his main point: everything we have in this life ultimately belongs to God. If we realize that we are simply stewards of the good things God has given us, we begin to see the blessings in our lives not merely as possessions, but as resources that can be used to further God's kingdom.

After the morning session concluded, we all sat down to a feast fit for kings. When everyone's stomachs were filled to the bursting point, it was time to sit down for some more food for thought from Pastor Bruce. He used this session to tell a little bit of his testimony and his family's history. He shared the story of a teenage Japanese soldier who warned his grandfather's family of incoming bombs so that they could flee the city before the destruction could commence. He used this story to show that age does not limit your ability to listen to God's voice. He ended by saying that each one of us has one shot in this life, and how we go about our lives on this earth will determine where we spend eternity.

After saying goodbye to Pastor Bruce and his wife, the LCHS troupe piled back into the bus for the quick jaunt to the softball field. Under the scorching sun, the students and staff alike swung at scorching pitches from Pastor Frank. With Mr. Leland acting as the ever impartial umpire, the game that proceeded was nothing short of professional quality. With everyone finally tucked out, we all prepared to head back to the school to recuperate from another successful R&R day.

Lady Lion's Kick-Off Season By: Kylie Kirkaldie

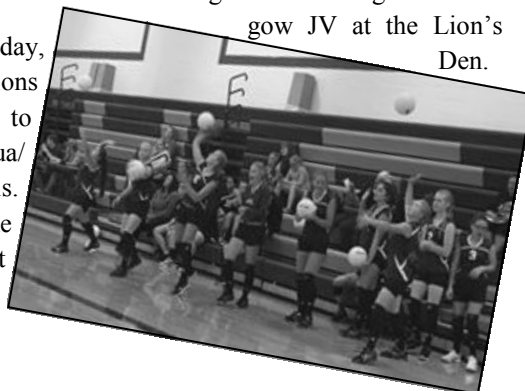

The Lady Lion's volleyball team headed down to Culbertson to compete in their annual kick-off tournament on Saturday, August 26. In the morning they played Circle, Froid/Medicine Lake,

The Lady Lions played Froid/Medicine Lake next the first set's score was 15-12 (F/ML) and the second set 15-7 (F/ML). The last team they played before the bracket was decided for the afternoon was Savage (B). The Lady Lions won, the first set was 15-8 (Lustre) and the second set 15-8 (Lustre). Later that day, the Lions played against Savage (A Team) in the tournament. Their first set ended in 25-22 (Lustre) and the second set 25-21 (Savage). They played the third set to 15 to decide who the winner of the game was. The score went back and forth until it ended at 19-17 (Savage). Savage (A Team) went to play in the championship game and won against Froid/Medicine Lake.

On Tuesday, August 29, the Lions went to Opheim to face the Nashua/Opheim Rivals. They played the first set and lost with a score of 25

-22 (N/O). Then the Lady Lions won the next three sets 25-5, 25-11 and 25-15. All in all, the Lady Lions have shown much teamwork, competitiveness, and improvement over this very short week. Come watch and support them at their next game at 5:00 against Glasgow JV at the Lion's Den.

bring them to LCHS. We are very glad that they willingly came here and filled in those positions and took a little weight off everybody's shoulders.

Following the testimonies, special music was provided by the LCHS choir directed by Mr. Butler. The choir sang a song called Agnus Dei, which means "Lamb of God." Then came the offertory, which Mrs. Melissa Marasco played for on the piano.

After the offertory came the student introductions. This year so far, there are about 25 students. And the number will continue to fluctuate due to incoming students later on, like Kirubel Legesse who came Tuesday and Gabriella Cappasso who will be coming later. And who knows who else could suddenly decide to come and show up. The Freshman class only has 3, while the Sophomore class has about 6, the Junior class 7, and lastly the Senior class currently has 6, but will add Gabriella, making it 7.

Next on tap was the Chairman's Comments. The Chairman is Mr. Kelly Toavs, who gave a speech about what is
