Chapel - Mr. Marasco by Zach Brown

On Thurs., April 25 Mr. Marasco was our speaker for chapel. The topic that he spoke on was loving God more than anything else. He used his love for basketball as a parallel to how some of us love God. It's a lukewarm relationship, it only lasts while you enjoy it or while it brings something back. He liked basketball but not an intense passion for it that is necessary to become really good at it. Without a passion for something we will not excel in it or hold onto it when the going gets rough. It was just a passing interest for him while a freshman. He soon lost his first love resulting in completely dropping the whole thing altogether, although he still likes to watch it. He framed what an intense passion for God would be like; it includes time in his word and even enjoying it. It also is making time with him a priority just like we do with sports. Without time spent on the passion it will become a lost interest, in anything. That is the message that Mr. Marasco brought and it is one that everyone needs to hear.

Spring 2019 Music Concert

by Gillbert Choi

Inside this issue:

Chapel	1	On May 1, 2019, Lustre Christian High School hosted their annual Spring Concert at the EMB Church. The concert started at 7:00 p.m. The Choir performed "In Terra Pax", "King of the Outlaws", "The King Shall Come" and "Hold Me Rock Me". Following the choir, soloists and ensembles performed. The first solo was performed by Diego, he played "Abendlied" by Louis Kohler on saxophone. Following that performance, Emily and Ashely sang a duet, "Scarlet Ribbons" by Jack Segla and Evelyn Dazing. Wisly played "The Drummer Boy" by Fred Hoey on the drum. Next the group of Emily, Ernest, Gillbert, Megan, Olivia and Sean, sang "I Wonder Why" by Ricard Avery & Donald Marsh. Following these performances, Tiara sang "Beautiful Dreamer" by Else Soderstromm, Megan sang "This Little Rose" by William Roy and Emily sang "Ich Grolle Nicht" by Robert Schumann.

After the solo and group performances, the band played "Crystal Medallion Overture" by Ed Huckleby, "Angels Amongst Us" by James Swearingen and "In The Mood" by Joe Garland.

Three soloists advanced to the State Music Festival which was held in Billings this past weekend. Megan received a 2 and Diego and Emily both received got 1s!

Thank you for supporting the music department at LCHS!

May Day by Ernest Uy

May Day, celebrated on May 1st, is characterized by maypoles, flowers, and festivities that celebrate the coming of spring.

However, other things are remembered, with a somewhat darker history. Some Socialists, Communists, and Anarchists have celebrated May 1st as International Labor Day after the infamous Haymarket Affair in Chicago, IL. On May 1st, 300,000 to 500,000 workers, some led by anarchists, went on strike all across the nation to fight for an 8-hour workday. On May 3rd, a strike at the McCormick Reaper Works in Chicago resulted in several strikers being injured or killed when they fought with police. The next day cemented the week in infamy. After several socialists and anarchists spoke in Haymarket Square, the crowd steadily broke up as weather conditions worsened. A police force was sent in to break up the remaining stragglers. A bomb was detonated in the midst of the police force, killing an officer. The resulting chaos killed and injured several people. Seven anarchists were sentenced to death by hanging, though several weren't even present at the time the bomb went off. An 8th anarchist served 15 years in prison. Four people were executed, one committed suicide in prison, and the other 3 ended up being pardoned. In July 1958, President Dwight Eisenhower signed a resolution naming May 1st "Loyalty Day," to disassociate from the Workers Of the World on May Day.

National Day of Prayer by Emily Eggar

On April 17, 1952 Conrad Hilton and Kansas Senator Frank Carlson initiated a bill which declared that the President would set aside a National Day of Prayer. This bill passed. In 1983, at the Constitution Hall in Washington D.C., National Day of Prayer was first observed. In attendance at this initial observance was Vice President George Bush and Dr. Lloyd Ogilvie. Finally, in 1986, the National Prayer Committee wrote a bill designating a specific day for America's "National Day of Prayer." Once the National Prayer Committee's bill was ratified, in 1988, there was officially a day set aside for prayer. National Day of Prayer is the first Thursday in May.

This year, National Day of Prayer fell on Thursday, May 2nd. It is customary for the high school to gather together, staff and students, and participate in a time of prayer. Last year the Student Council hosted a breakfast during first period before splitting the student body into prayer groups. Student Council took charge of this event again this year, planning a before school prayer time with a breakfast directly following. The student split up into two prayer groups and the adults formed a third, each group found a quiet spot and prayed for 20 minutes.

After the prayer time, everyone gathered in the cafeteria for a breakfast provided by Student Council. Overall, the observance of National Day of Prayer was well attended at LCHS and was encouraging to the whole school.

Mother's Day by Kirubel Legesse

Many people in the United States and some parts of the world celebrate Mother's Day. Mother's Day is celebrated on the 2nd Sunday of May, this year that is the 12th. It celebrates motherhood and it is a time to appreciate mothers and mother figures. Many people give gifts, cards, flowers, candy, a meal, or some kind of treat.

The modern holiday of Mother's Day was first celebrated in 1908, Anna Jarvis held a memorial for her mother at St Andrew's Methodist Church in Grafton, Virginia. Many churches celebrate Mother's Day since a mother's love reflects God's love - selfless, enduring, and unconditional. Happy Mother's Day and thank you to all of the Moms out there.
